By registering you acknowledge that the Oz Kfest event is not organised by any broader legal entity or for-profit business, and is simply a gathering of like-minded vintage computing enthusiasts, sharing costs and effort between them. As such there is no insurance coverage provided for any belongings you bring to the event and you participate in activities at your own risk. You also acknowledge that you've read and understood the COVID policy and code of conduct and agree to keep the event a safe and friendly environment for all attendees.

This year, the Oz Kfest event will be run in conjunction with The Australian Computer Museum Society (ACMS), a registered NFP/DGR charity. By partnering with the ACMS, ACMS endorsed activities during the event and any volunteering activity for the charity will be covered by the ACMS group insurance policy. Your included membership to the ACMS will entitle you to benefits of membership of the ACMS charity including access to workshops, events, discounts and more available at acms.org.au. The ACMS will also provide support, artefacts, and tools for use, education and make components available on site for purchase.

The ACMS is trialling support of community groups such as the Australian Apple II enthusiasts who organise the Oz Kfest event to enable access to better quality tooling, support and venues into the future.

Registration for the Oz Kfest 2023 event is accomplished by becoming a member of the ACMS and by making an additional $45 donation to contribute to the work of the ACMS.

Both can be done online in one transaction at: <https://acms.org.au/membership/>
Choose a custom amount and enter $97 or $45 (for existing members).
Please enter "Oz Kfest" as a comment.

A receipt for the donation and confirmation of membership will be issued by ACMS.
Confirmation of registration for the Oz Kfest event will be emailed separately.

In case of emergency, please provide contact details for your next of kin:
